

Sean Cogdell

CEO

The Panther Group

Sean Cogdell, CEO of The Panther Group, completed his Undergraduate Degree in Accounting at Central Connecticut State University, and his MBA at Iona College in New York. Sean is also a Certified Public Accountant, licensed in New York State. He has experience in Publicly-traded multinational corporations, Public Accounting Firms (then Big 8, now Big 4), and Large Not-For-Profit Organizations during his more than 30 years of professional work experience.

Having served as the tax accountant and strategic consultant to The Panther Group since its inception in 1992, assisting with financial and tax planning, infrastructure development, accounting reviews, and general operational matters, Sean was appointed CEO of The Panther Group in May 2016 after the acquisition of the company by he and his partner, Tim Puglielli (company President).
