

Rohit Mahajan, Short Bio:

Rohit is the Investor, Founder, and President at Saviance Technologies and the Managing Partner at BigR.io, LLC in Boston. He is passionate about building innovative business solutions utilizing machine learning and artificial intelligence technologies.

With over thirty years of software industry experience, Rohit has worked on several complex software projects and products for enterprise clients, and worked with IBM before starting his company twenty years ago in New Jersey. He also furthers enterprise initiatives as an active Angel investor in healthcare startups. He is a member of the Board of Directors of Diversity Alliance for Science, which is a non-profit organization promoting inclusive procurement practices in the life sciences and healthcare industry.

In addition to his academic background as an Electronics Engineer, Rohit is an Alumnus of The Wharton School and a graduate of the Owner President Management program from Harvard Business School.